2-1-1 San Bernardino County Statistical Update

2-1-1 San Bernardino County Statistical Update for November 2008

Monthly Report

This is the monthly report for 2-1-1 San Bernardino County. The January report, covering October - December, will be a more in-depth quarterly report.

2-1-1 News Items

Annual Updates

We will be sending out the annual update forms, including all current information for agencies to correct, add to, and sign off on. Non-profit agencies that return their information within the designated period will receive a discount on the 2009 Blue Book Directory.

2-1-1 Advisory Committee Meeting

The next meeting of the 2-1-1 Advisory Committee will be held at 9am at the 2-1-1 Call Center in Rancho Cucamonga on the 29th of January 2009.

Brief 2-1-1 Call Center Monthly Data Analysis

Calls to 2-1-1 decreased in November, typical for this time of year, with holidays. Callers with children increased from 42% to 46% and the children tended to be older, holding the First 5 callers to just under 25%. The percentage of callers age 21 to 39 has increased, more of them are female, and people calling on their own behalf increased from 93% to 95%.

The percentage of callers on unemployment and social security has increased both by 1% and the percentage of callers on TANF (temporary aid to needy families) increased by 3% in November. 20% of callers now indicate a dependency on public transportation, up from 17%.

There were 255 calls from people looking for Holiday Programs. Many of these calls occurred on the day before Thanksgiving, when most programs were already at their limit. Likewise, calls from people wishing to donate were up dramatically.

The Freeway Complex Fires, which threatened Chino Hills, generated 65 calls from people looking for the latest status including evacuation and shelter information and another 8 calls from people wishing to donate to the fire survivors. This was also the first time that 2-1-1 received information directly from a city emergency services. The City of Chino Hills, wishing to make sure their residents had a quick and easy way to obtain critical information, began including 2-1-1 in their event updates.

Until next month, have a terrific Holiday Season!
